California Water Service Group Promotes Kenneth G. Jenkins to Vice President, Water Resources Planning and Sustainability

SAN JOSE, Calif., Jan. 07, 2025 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- California Water Service Group (Group) (NYSE:CWT) today announced the promotion of Kenneth G. Jenkins to the newly created position of Vice President, Water Resources Planning and Sustainability, effective January 1, 2025.

According to Chairman and Chief Executive Officer Martin A. Kropelnicki, Jenkins has demonstrated his commitment to water supply resilience and climate change adaptation, helping the company improve its overall planning for the future.

“This well-deserved promotion recognizes the immense effort Ken has put into improving our water supply master planning and leading the company’s efforts to improve conservation, resilience, and sustainability to help us meet the challenges we face. He is a respected leader in his field, and the Board and I have been extremely impressed by all he has achieved in a relatively short time,” said Chairman Kropelnicki.

Jenkins began his career at the company in 2005 as Government & Community Relations Manager. After successfully leading the company’s Conservation Department and Drought Response Task Force from 2008 to 2020, he was appointed Director of Water Resource Sustainability and Conservation. In 2022, he joined the executive team as Chief Water Resource Sustainability Officer. Jenkins holds Bachelor of Arts Degrees in Economics & Management and Political Science from Beloit College in Wisconsin. He serves on the board of the California Water Efficiency Partnership and has been featured at industry conferences and contributed to studies by various organizations, including the Public Policy Institute of California.
