California Water Service Company (Cal Water) Provides Water Supply Update; Says Its Districts Are Prepared to Meet Customer Demand Despite Drought Emergency

SAN JOSE, CA -- (Marketwired) -- 01/17/14 -- (NYSE: CWT) -- In the wake of Governor Jerry Brown's proclamation of a drought emergency this morning, California Water Service Company (Cal Water) provided a water supply update today for its 21 service areas throughout the state, indicating that its water systems are prepared to meet customer demand despite continuing dry conditions.

According to Cal Water, this is the driest year on record in the state of California. Although the utility does not anticipate requiring mandatory water use restrictions at this time, it does encourage customers to "keep up the good work" and continue using water efficiently. Cal Water has been a leader in conservation and since 2007 has spent nearly $32 million helping customers to save water. A reflection of the success of the program: Per capita water use has declined an average of 15% throughout the company's service territories since 2007.

"Regardless of what happens at the state level, water supply availability varies by community. We plan for dry conditions, and where possible, we secure multiple sources of supply. So we are prepared. Having said that, water is a precious resource that should never be wasted, and we encourage our customers to continue using water as efficiently as possible," said Vice President of Engineering and Water Quality Robert R. Guzzetta.

Cal Water will closely monitor the situation; conditions could change if the lack of precipitation continues over the next few months. Cal Water will continue to provide a variety of conservation rebates and programs to help customers use water wisely and efficiently, which can be found at www.calwater.com/conservation.

Cal Water is the largest subsidiary of California Water Service Group (Group), which provides regulated and non-regulated water services to nearly 2 million people in California, Washington, New Mexico, and Hawaii. Group's stock trades on the New York Stock Exchange under the symbol "CWT."
